Soyfoods Have A Place In Family Meals

EAST LANSING, Mich. -- Parents of 8- to 10-year-old children identified positive and negative perceptions of family meals, including benefits such as time for conversation, feelings of togetherness and shared nutrition, in a report in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association. Families reported they frequently eat together but indicated there are ways to make this experience even better.

"If families are looking for nutritious foods that easily fit into a busy schedule and allow them to spend more time sharing at the table, parents should take a look at the variety of soyfoods available," Hofing says.

Soyfoods tend to be lower in fat and cholesterol than their traditional counterparts but still provide high quality, complete protein, she points out. They can also be a time saver. For example, using soy-based burger crumbles means no time spent thawing and browning hamburger.

Governor Declares April "Michigan Wine Month"

LANSING — Governor Jennifer M. Granholm has declared April "Michigan Wine Month" to honor Michigan's wide selection of quality wines and the wine industry's significant contribution to the economy. Michigan's wine and grape industries contribute nearly $800 million to the state's economy each year.

"With eight new wineries slated to open this year, Michigan's grape and wine industry demonstrates that our state is ripe for growth and opportunity," said Granholm. "Michigan's wine industry is an important component of the state's $71.3 billion agri-food business sector and is vital to our tourism efforts."

The Michigan Grape and Wine Industry Council is an 11-member panel that supports the growth of the grape and wine industry in Michigan. Visit www.michiganwines.com for more information.
